Dove Release No.1

Doves are beautiful, devoted creatures. Watching them soar together in synchronous flight is an inspiration and a joy to watch. Doves symbolize unity, loyalty, love, beauty, devotion and peace – all that we wish for you throughout your lives together.

<Bride> and <Groom>, as you release these doves into flight, send with them your own hopes and dreams, which will soar with them, soon to come back to you.

Dove Release No.2

Doves have been used for centuries to symbolize all the hope, peace and love that come from new beginnings. As <Bride> and <Groom> release these doves into flight, we who are here today, join them in wishing that all that is good and beautiful will go with them as they begin their new life together.

Watch closely as the birds fly. Together they will create beautiful patterns in the sky; sometimes apart, sometimes together, always in harmony with one another. This is how it is with a good marriage. Two people moving together, both on their own paths, yet united in their journey.

<Bride> and <Groom>, as you begin your journey together as husband and wife today, we wish for you to enjoy the beauty of your flight, the intricacies of the pattern you create, and the peace such a journey can bring.

Butterfly Release

At this time, <Bride> and <Groom> will release two butterflies as a beautiful expression of the change that their coming together in marriage symbolizes to them.

Butterflies are as beautiful as they are fragile. They symbolize change, transformation and all that is perfect in the world. As these two join today in marriage, their commitment to love releases into the world a new wonder, a new beauty, a new perfection.

<Bride> and <Groom>, as you release these gentle creatures, may you be blessed with knowledge of the ever-flowing presence of love in the world, and like these butterflies, may the spirit of your love touch everyone you meet with its grace and courage.
